- Outstanding Achievement in Community Outreach, Education, and Promotion of Energy Efficiency

Sydney

- Major: Biochemistry

- During her first year in the Sustainability club, Sydney helped coordinate the Fresno State Fall Sustainability Symposium.
- In summer 2020, Sydney's first major action as Co-President of the Sustainability Club was to organize with Fresno State Athletics (for whom she also serves as a student leader) to raise $10,000 for the Creek Fire.
- She helped develop Fresno United and Food Desert Solutions, two community organizations that focus on relieving hunger that plagues our valley's food deserts by providing fresh produce and other meals from local farmers and food manufacturers.
- She serves in a community garden in West Fresno to continue her food security efforts.
- Post graduation, Sydney would like to study geothermal energy sources and food security efforts abroad to prepare for her application to a MD/PhD program, where she will focus on global health education to provide medical accessibility to all communities.
- "The opportunities and experiences granted to me as a Bulldog have inspired me to continue leading sustainability efforts on a local, national, and global level as I move into the post-graduate years of my life."
